

"What big eyes you have!"
"The better to see you with."
"What big ears you have!"
"The better to hear you with."
"What big teeth you have!"
"The better to eat you with!"

The story teaches children to be cautious around strangers, follow instructions from trusted adults, and be aware that appearances can be deceiving.